Application for a Non-Standard Water Supply Service

Where a property receives a non-standard water supply service, the owner is required to:

- Meet all costs of constructing and maintaining the service connection.
- Pay all fees associated with the connection of the service prior to the provision of the connection.
- Ensure a licensed plumber undertakes or supervises the service connection.
- Provide written proof of access if the service connection is across a reserve, an easement, or private property. You are also required to inform Water Corporation if access is withdrawn or no longer available.
- Prepare and lodge a notification under Section 70A of the Transfer of Land Act (1983) stating that the water service to the land is subject to an agreement that specifies the terms of the service. Water Corporation can lodge the notification on your behalf for a fee.

Other issues you should be aware of:

- Service connection applications may be placed on hold pending the completion of the requirements listed above.
- Service connections applications may be placed on hold on the request of the applicant.
- Depending on other service alternatives that may be available, Water Corporation reserve the right to refuse the service.

Service conditions for a water supply may include one or more of the following:

- Water quality may not meet Australian Drinking Water Guidelines.
- Water pressure may be poor, excessive or fluctuate.
- Flow rate may be limited or variable and not comply with our Water Services Licence.
- Interruptions to supply may occur without notice, therefore it is recommended that you have an on-site storage tank with a capacity of 2 days' water supply.
- We will provide 12 months' notice if we wish to disconnect the service. However, for a serious breach of the terms and conditions to the agreement, the service may end immediately.
